A series of handwriting practice rows. Each row consists of a solid top line, a dashed middle line, and a solid bottom line. The first row contains six boxes: the first has a square with arrows indicating the stroke order (top, right, bottom, left), followed by five empty dashed squares. The second row contains six empty dashed squares. The third row contains a square with arrows indicating the stroke order (left, top, right, bottom), followed by five empty dashed squares. The fourth row contains six empty dashed squares. The fifth row contains a square with arrows indicating the stroke order (left, top, right, bottom), followed by five empty dashed squares. The sixth row contains six empty dashed squares. The seventh row contains a square with arrows indicating the stroke order (left, top, right, bottom), followed by five empty dashed squares. The eighth row contains six empty dashed squares.
